

Central Thought

“Aavo cho na tame?”

EXECUTION

It will be done in phases:

- PRE-LAUNCH
- LAUNCH
- POST-LAUNCH

For Jamnagar, instead of repeating the same format, the idea should feel more hyperlocal + community-driven + unexpectedly playful.

Jamnagar has:

- slower, more community-based culture
- strong family crowd
- heavy word-of-mouth impact
- curiosity around aesthetic/new cafés
- pride in local identity

So instead of “big city launch energy”, Jamnagar should feel:

“South India has come to you...and it’s impossible to ignore.”

PRE-LAUNCH

ONLINE

- Create graphical teasers for social media.
- Shoot short teaser reels around Jamnagar with subtle South Indian elements appearing around the city.

ANNA GOES TO JAMNAGAR

“Giving Jamnagar A Taste Of The Real South.”

We'll do a series of quirky and culturally rooted videos featuring Anna as the face of the campaign.

The idea is to slowly introduce:

- South Indian culture
- Podi's personality
- humour
- food
- and warmth

to the people of Jamnagar in a fun, highly shareable format.

1 - “ANNA HAS ARRIVED.”

Ref. -

<https://www.instagram.com/reels/DUs3reakhwE/>

Anna reaches Jamnagar and starts exploring the city like a tourist.

He can be seen:

- roaming through local streets
- visiting iconic spots
- reacting to local food
- observing the culture
- interacting with locals

The video captures Anna experiencing whatever Jamnagar has to offer while subtly introducing South Indian energy into the city.

The idea is to begin the storyline while creating curiosity around the character and the brand.

2 - “GUJARAT SOUTH INDIA”

- A fun cultural crossover moment.

A man is sitting at a local chai tapri having khakhra and chai.

Anna quietly sits beside him and adds:

- ghee
- podi masala

on the khakhra.

The man reacts curiously, takes a bite... and loves it.

The two continue eating together.

The idea is to show how Gujarat & South India can come together through food in a simple, warm and humorous manner.

3 - “FILTER COFFEE FOR JAMNAGAR.”

Ref. -

<https://www.instagram.com/reels/DYSa4fthulh/>

Anna starts sharing his culture with the people of Jamnagar.

He can be seen:

- making filter coffee
- drinking it with locals
- serving coffee at different spots around the city
- interacting with people

The video showcases South Indian warmth and hospitality while creating a visually aesthetic and culturally immersive reel.

4 - “AAVO CHO NA TAME?”

Inspiration -

<https://www.instagram.com/reel/DWtMyVMExxU/?igsh=bzF1aGo1bGdqMHJu>

Anna is driving the Podi auto through the streets and lanes of Jamnagar.

Since he doesn't know Gujarati properly, he carries a small paper in his hand and keeps reading the line written on it to everyone he meets:

“Aavo cho na tame?”

Throughout the journey, people notice:

- banana leaves
- filter coffee tumblers
- podi parcels
- South Indian elements inside the auto

Anna keeps inviting everyone for the opening of Podi Cafe in his own quirky and lovable style.

5 - “PODI IS COMING TO THE CITY OF VANTARA.”

A graphical cutout-style animated reveal video in classic Podi style.

The Podi auto travels through illustrated lanes and iconic elements of Jamnagar while slowly revealing:

“Opening Soon.”

The visual style will feel:

- playful
- quirky
- colourful
- highly shareable

while blending Podi’s identity with Jamnagar’s culture.

6 - “WE’VE ARRIVED.”

Ref. -

<https://www.instagram.com/reel/DYPMTCeKRcL/?igsh=MzE2YzA0b2lnenQ2>

A cinematic reel showcasing different elements of Podi being carried inside the outlet one-by-one.

Examples:

- banana leaves
- utensils
- podi masalas
- decor elements
- filter coffee tumblers
- flowers

The movement creates suspense while slowly revealing that Podi has officially arrived in Jamnagar.

End frame: “NOW OPEN.”
