

Women's Day

Vedic Mother

Campaign #1

HANDS THAT HEAL

CORE THOUGHT

Behind every Ayurvedic remedy, there are women whose hands nurture and heal—from plucking delicate roses for Gulkand to slow-churning A2 ghee.

This campaign celebrates their stories, their traditions, and their wisdom, linking them to the larger narrative of Ayurveda and women as the original healers.

One Product, One Woman, One Story

Storytelling Execution

Each product on the website, Instagram and Youtube comes with a real story—not just the Ayurvedic benefits, but the human touch behind it.

Visuals: A woman in the early morning mist, carefully plucking roses with wrinkled but strong hands, placing them gently into a basket, smiling at the scent.

<https://www.istockphoto.com/video/closeup-footage-of-a-female-gathering-rose-petals-to-make-aromatic-perfume-during-gm1453056089-489175101>

Voiceover of Sakshi : Ye gulaab mere haathon se guzarta hai, par iska asar aapke dil aur shareer tak jaata hai. Bachpan se suna hai ki gulaab thanda rakhta hai... aaj bhi jab isse chunte hain, lagta hai ki hamari chhoti si mehnat kisi ke Achi Sehat ki Shuruwaat hone waali hai.

Tie-Back Moment

Cut to the finished jar of Gulkand, beautifully placed in a kitchen, with a mother stirring it into milk for her child.

We Repeat This for Different Products:

Chyawanprash → Story of the woman sourcing Amla from the orchards.

Sitopaladi Churna → A farmer's wife drying the herbs under the sun, explaining how she learned it from her ancestors.

A2 Ghee → A grandmother who has been making ghee the old way since childhood, now a supplier for Vedic Mother.

Final Unifying Video (Campaign Film):

- Starts with the women behind the products.
- Ends with modern women using these products—a mother, a professional, a grandmother—carrying forward the same tradition.

Ends with a message from the core
DNA of Vedic Mother:

This Women's Day, honor the women who heal.

Acknowledge, Appreciate, and Pass It On.

Instagram Post & Story Series:

Meet the women behind your Ayurveda.

Nourish your mind and body with Ayurvedic Goodness!

We could take this a step further by creating a

"Healing Hands Fund" where:

A percentage of every purchase during the Women's Day period goes back to the women in these Ayurvedic supply chains.

Customers receive a handwritten thank-you note from one of the women, adding a human touch.

Campaign 2

Aस्तित्व

CORE THOUGHT

Every Women's Day, brands celebrate women as mothers, sisters, wives, or caregivers. But what about her identity beyond these roles?

Women are not just defined by the roles they play for others—they are individuals first. Astitva (existence) is about who she is beyond expectations, beyond obligations, beyond Ayurveda, beyond everything else.

This campaign doesn't tell women what to do, what to be, or how to celebrate Women's Day. Instead, it simply asks:

Who are you, beyond the roles the world sees?

Social Media Activation:

- Reel Series: I Am More Than...

Women from different backgrounds complete the sentence:

I am more than a mother. I am an artist.
/ I am more than a homemaker. I am a leader.

Voice

Notes

Campaign:

On Instagram, we create female voice notes along with women sending a voice note describing themselves beyond roles. The best ones get featured.

UGC Campaign:

- Ask users to share a black-and-white image of themselves with a caption completing the sentence – I am more than...
- Feature real women's stories on Vedic Mother's social pages.

Offline Activation (Low Budget but Impactful)

Aस्तित्व Mirror

Special Packaging or Insert in Orders:

A blank note card inside every order with a message : We ask to write down who you are, beyond the roles the world gives you. Then, share the same on your story and tag us.

In return we feature your story and you get a 15% discount on every order of yours for an entire month.

